

Guideline for the timetable

Each Alphabet in the common timetable represents a particular slot. Every subject is taught in a specific slot(s). There are thirteen 50 - 55 minutes slot (A – M) and ten (N - W) 180-minutes slot. 50 -55 minutes slots appear thrice a week and 180-minutes slots appear once a week. Each slot is divided into three parts as (for example consider D slot) D1, D2, and D3, D1 mean first day of week where slot D falls and D2 mean second day of week where the D slot falls and so on. In general, theory classes are held in 50 - 55 minutes slots and lab classes are held in 180-minutes slots.

There are three principal components involved in classroom teaching: Lecture, Tutorial and Lab. Each course, based on its nature and requirement, may contain one or more of the mentioned components and accordingly requires slots for its schedule.
